BORDENTOWN WOMAN WINS PEOPLE'S CHOICE PHOTO CONTEST

Environmental Photo Contest Sponsored By BurlCo Health Department

A photo of Crosswicks Creek showing a colorful reflective image of sunrise has won first place in the People's Choice award of Burlington County's Environmental Health Photo Contest.

Burlington County Health Officer Robert Gogats presented the award – an attractive Art Glass Teardrop Trophy -- to amateur photographer Ann Darlington of Bordentown at the Health Department last week for her entry, titled "As Above So Below."

"We congratulate the winners and everyone who entered the environmental photo contest," said Gogats, who oversees the Department of Health, which coordinated the contest.

In addition to the People's Choice Award, five category winners also received prizes to local cultural events/locations.

- Kate McGovern of Shamong won the Adult Professional Category for her photo from the 2004 floods in Medford.

PRESS RELEASE: Photo Contest – 7/14/10 – Add One

- Robin Delahanty of Bordentown won the Adult Amateur category with a photo of a family hugging a tree in Smithville Park.
- Jaimee Miller of Edgewater Park, won the 16-18 age group for her photo of a goose at Boundary Park.
- Stephen Grice of Springfield Township won the 11-15 age group for his photo of his house which is a passive-solar earth berm building.
- Kaya Robinson of Palmyra won the 10 and under age group for her picture of her brother holding an Eco-Tote, which is a recycled cardboard bag that has seeds that will grow in it.

The Senior Amateur winner, a new category, was Rocky D'Entremont of Mount Holly whose picture showed a pile of litter being cleaned up from the Rancocas Creek

Visitors to the County's annual Earth Fair at Smithville Park last month viewed over 40 entries and voted on their favorite for the contest theme of "Beautiful Burlington County."

The entries can be viewed on the county website at www.co.burlington.nj.us.
